38+ / 48+ / 58+ MSBL World Series Tournament Underway

You Ought To Be In Pictures!

By David Krival, Editor, HardBall Magazine
(reprinted from 2003 WS Program)

Since 1992, Chris Denevi and C.J. Jones have been the official HardBall Magazine photographers for the MSBL/MABL World Series. Visual Touch, managed by Jerry Esposito, has been the official HardBall photography contractor for the Fall Classic since 1998. When this schedule has allowed Jerry has also covered a few World Series games for us, mainly (but not only) in the early days from 1990 through 1992.

We've run a handful of photos from other contributors: however, if you've seen a picture in HardBall of yourself or your team at any World Series since 1992 or any Fall Classic since 1998, Chris, C.J. or Jerry almost certainly took it. To be sure, check the credit line at the bottom of the photo or photography byline at the head of the article in the magazine. Visual Touch and Denevi & Jones also provide many of the photos, which appear in the Fall Classic and World Series Programs.

In 2001, Norine Rathbone became a welcome, highly skilled addition to the HardBall World Series photography team, covering two games on the final Saturday of the tournament, two of her images appear in the 2003 World Series Program.

Record Number Of Teams Attend The 2003 MSBL / MABL World Series

By Tom Prendergast

The final week of the 2003 MSBL WS opened yesterday with 149 new teams, by far the largest number of teams in one week participating in an MSBL tournament. The first week twenty-eight, 28+ National, American and Continental teams participated and were joined midway through the week by 57 MABL teams for the 18+ World Series. Last week 93 MSBL teams were joined by 26 Father & Son teams. In all 353 teams will participate in this year's MSBL/MABL World Series, making it once again the largest amateur baseball tournament ever held, (that's up from 329 last year). Part of the increase this year is due to three new divisions, 38+ & 48+ wood and 65+.

The good news for the players here this week is that the forecast calls for normal temperatures and no rain. That's good news. Last week the teams endured five straight days of 100+ temperatures. The annual MSBL WS awards banquet will be held this Saturday November 1st at the Rustler's Rooste, located behind the Pointe at So Mountain resort.

Diary of an Aging Baseball Player

My Hometown

By Max Utsler

It was the summer of 1957 in Maquon, Illinois, population 400.

Main Street in Maquon consisted of Strode's Garage, Parli Implement Company, The Farm Services Gas Station, Gooding's Grocery Store, Ferguson's TV Repair and Restaurant (go figure), and three taverns.

You could tell Maquon had its priorities straight.

But Maquon also had a post office, a library, an American Legion Hall, and oh, yes—a ballpark. Most every town in central Illinois had a ballpark. And on most summer days the town ballpark was the center of activity.

My buddies and I didn't have video games, DVD's, or cell phones. But we did have gloves, bats and baseballs. And we used them. Constantly. No one in the town ever had to mow the grass at the ballpark. We beat it down.

I actually grew up in the suburbs of Maquon (i.e. a farm) but often cajoled my Grandpa into hauling me the three miles into town for week-long visits. Grandma and Grandpa thought I just wanted to watch their new TV. What I really wanted to do was play baseball.

I do not think we ever set a formal meeting time, but everyday all of the young Maquon boys and an occasional girl would gather at the ballpark at 10 a.m. We would play till noon, go home and eat dinner (a Maquon word for the noon meal), then come back at 1 and play until supper (a Maquon word for the evening meal). Then we would go play on our Little League teams in the evening. If no Little Leagues were scheduled, we would come back to the ballpark and play until dark.

I mention all of this because of two key points. 1) We played baseball all of the time, so we got to be pretty good. 2) No adults were present to coach, cheer or mess up our games.

Neither of those two things seem to exist anymore.

Drive by the ballpark in Maquon or another town and I doubt you will see kids playing baseball. The ballparks still sit there. But the grass grows tall and the fields stand empty. Some evenings kids dads may arrive with their heavy metal (pickups, bats and kegs) for 40 minutes of softball and four hours of beer-guzzling. When was the last time you drove by a park on Wednesday afternoon in the summer and saw a dozen boys playing baseball?

Today the kids in Santuce play baseball, barefooted on rock-littered diamonds. The kids in Maquon play Halo or Sole Caliber2 on an X-Box. That should explain why Major League Baseball today features a majority of its players from Latin America.

It would be easy to blame the kids of today for this state of affairs, but a look back at Maquon in 1957 might offer some additional insight.

Earlier I mentioned "no adults present." As a result, we did not have teams, uniforms, standings, batting gloves, majors and minors, age groups, coolers full of Gatorade, First Aid Kits, sunscreen, playoffs, tournaments or trophies. Instead—we had fun.

We also had rules—our rules. We would make them up each session depending on who showed up and how many showed up.

For example, on shorthanded days we would play "right field out" or "pitcher's hands out." We might also prohibit bunting. We might have the team at bat provide a catcher or first baseman. If we were really short-handed we might take batting practice or play other games such as "500" or "Work-up." I doubt if my son has ever even heard of those games.

If every kid in town showed up, we could field two, nine-man teams. But the players would range in age from 6-13 and one was a girl. So that presented a different problem—Earl and Mouse.

Earl Ferry and Alvin "Mouse" Morse were both 12 years old. More significantly, Earl and Mouse were pitchers. They threw hard. And they (continued on page 4)

Better Directions To The Surprise Complex

By Brian Sigler

Jim Mallon, Director of the Surprise Sports Complex in Surprise suggested a better way to get to the Surprise Complex. Go I-10 West to 101 North. Take 101 North to Grand Ave (60 W), make a left turn. Take Grand Ave (60 W) to Bell Rd and make a left. Take Bell Rd to Ballard Ave and make a left. The Surprise Complex is located on the right.

threw curve balls.

So we came up with a basic set of rules. Earl and Mouse had to be on different teams. When the little kids came up to bat (the 6-9 year olds) Earl and Mouse had to lob the ball in. Unfortunately I was 10 at the time. I had lobbied for rules that would occasionally allow me to get a base hit. But because Earl and Mouse were the oldest (and the meanest), their concessions only went so far. By the next summer Earl and Mouse were working part-time jobs, so Earl's brother Frank, Jimmy Melton, Bobby Pruett and I became the self-appointed "Leaders of the Park." We still lobbed it to the 6-9 year old. But because none of the aforementioned could throw as hard as our predecessors, my batting average soared. I would usually go about 20 for 50 (per day). We would all have 500 at bats before the 4th of July. We helped each other. We improved. Eight hours of baseball per day will do that for you.

Compare that with the typical 10-year old today. Six practices in May. Six rained out practices in May. Twenty games in 30 days in June. Six games rained out in June. July 1 - season over. We have to pick that all-star team to start traveling around and playing in tournaments. The net result is 15 kids from the league keep playing and 150 others start looking for something else to do. Here it is July, the best baseball month of the year, and 90 percent of the kids have packed away their gloves for the season. And you wonder how X-Box came to be so popular?

Back in Maquon "we didn't need no stinking all-star team." We just wanted to "play" ball. I am truly sorry my son never had the chance to experience Maquon. He never found out how much fun baseball could be.

Dr. Max Utsler has played in the Kansas City MSBL since 1988. In his spare time he teaches journalism at the University of Kansas.

Dream Foundation Padres Special!

The Dream Foundation Padres from the San Diego North County MSBL, skippered by Kyle Widner, are at the WS to play ball and to raise awareness about the Dream Foundation. The mission of the Dream Foundation is to enhance the quality of life for individuals and families battling terminal illnesses. The Dream Foundation is a pioneer wish-granting organization for adults over age 18 to 65. Now in its 9th year, the Dream Foundation has granted thousands of dreams to adults who are emotionally, financially and physically devastated by terminal illness. The Dream Foundation serves all fifty states. The first annual Bruce Jenner Celebrity Golf Tournament will be held November 21, 2003 at La Costa Resort & Spa's famous PGA Championship North Course to raise funds and awareness of the Foundations core purpose. The golf tournament is being sponsored by the San Diego North County Men's Senior Baseball League. Details at www.bruce-jenner-

Freebees Relieve Pain For MSBL WS Baseball Players*By Annie Sullivan*

"The pain starts and stops here." At least this is what you get when you put baseball and Biofreeze together. Coming to the 2003 World Series, ball players play their heart out in hopes to win. This means injuries happen. This is where Biofreeze has stepped in. Biofreeze claims that "The pain stops here." So, ball players at this 2003 World Series tournament will receive a free sample of Biofreeze gel to relieve their pain from injuries.

Biofreeze uses cold therapy (Cryotherapy) to relieve pain for several hours. Biofreeze is greaseless and stainless pain relief with no lingering odor. People who suffer from back, neck, or shoulder pain, sore muscles and arthritis should use this product. Biofreeze is backed up by health care professionals and is only sold to them. It is not available in retail stores.

Ball players, remember that using Biofreeze for pain can help you out in this year's World Series Tournament. Enjoy your free sample of Biofreeze and to contact the makers of Biofreeze call 1-800-Biofreeze or email no-pain@biofreeze.com.
