25+ Federal / Central Divisions Championship Games Today

The victorious Texas Blue Jays celebrate on the field after their 5-0 shutout victory over the Kansas City Royals in the 45+ Wood Bat American Championship game played on Tempe 5.

Father & Son Pool Play Concludes — Playoffs Get Underway Today

65+ Wood Bat Divisions Heading Into The Playoff Round This Morning

By Tom Prendergast

Yesterday the MSBL World Series handed out six more championship trophies as week two of the tournament nears the end. The Tri Valley Brewers beat the Ventura Dodgers 6-3 to capture the 35+ WB Central title. The Texas Blue Jays shutout the KC Royals 5-0 to win the 45+ WB American championship. In the closest game of the day the Colorado Buffaloes scored one run in the first inning and didn't give up any to beat the Houston Rangers 1-0 and win the 45+ WB American trophy. In the 35+ WB American championship contest, Team Easton defeated the KC Astros 7-5, while the Boston Wolfpack beat the So Cal Stars 7-3 to wrap up the 45+ WB National title. In the sixth and final title game of the day the South Bay Cubs completely shutdown the Scottsdale Finest by the score of 10-0 to win the 35+ WB national championship.

The championship games continue today as the 25+ Federal and Central games are scheduled for 9:30a and 1:15p today at Tempe Diablo Stadium. All three divisions of Father and Son will be starting their playoff games as will the 65+ WB divisions. A special note to the F/S Central teams, because there's a chance that a couple teams could have to play three games today, these playoff games are only 7 innings and the participation batting rule does not apply for today only in this division. Also please note that only players actually on the roster may participate in MSBL / MABL tournament games. Bat boys and girls are not allowed to play in games, regardless of what the on-field officials tell your manager. For a number of reasons, the least of which involves insurance liability, all participants must appear on your official roster that has been submitted to the National Office before your team steps onto the field.
