Playoff Hopes For Some Teams Could Be Determined By Runs Allowed Scorebook.com Keeps Teams Up To Date With Real Time Game Results Online By Tom Prendergast

At the half way point it appears that several teams could end up with identical won / loss records. Enter the tie breaker scenarios. Teams receive two points for a win, and one for a tie. While the first tie breaker will always be head-to-head competition (this doesn't apply for the wildcard teams. When this category does not break the tie, the team with the fewest or least runs allowed will advance. Where wildcard qualifiers contend for playoff status, only runs allowed will dictate playoff-qualifying status. In the unlikely event of a tie in runs allowed, total runs scored will be used to determine the team that advances.

So as a precaution before your teams games today, it might be a good idea for all managers to go over their scores again and double check them to make sure that your totals match the ones listed in both the newsletter and scorebook.com. If they don't, please call the WS office and let them know that your team has a discrepancy so we can correct it before its too late. As soon as your teams score is reported it is posted online. In most cases your teams record has already been updated before your players reach the parking lot. By Thursday afternoon and early evening the office will be notifying team managers of their playoffs pairings.
