18+ National Dutch Tigers pitcher, Mitchell Berghmans seems to defy gravity as he delivers this pitch to the plate during his teams game at Tempe Diablo Stadium yesterday afternoon.

18+ Dutch Tigers Can't Get Enough Baseball During Their US Visit

Team Enjoys The Camaraderie Of The MSBL / MABL World Series Tournament
By Tom Prendergast

The 2012 version of the Dutch Tigers, includes names right out of a James Bond film; Sven, Nigel, Yannis and Maikel, just to name a few. But they love baseball and according to their manager, Frank Cramer, traveled to the US to seek out the best competition they could find. And playing in the 18+ National division is certainly the best place to find it. Yesterday the Tigers had their hands full with the So Cal Snappers, an MABL perennial powerhouse to be sure. In their second game of the day they faced a young Arizona State Baseball team and afterwards the ASU squad invited the Dutch players to accompany them back to the campus for some liquid refreshment and an opportunity to experience some college nightlife. Tempe Diablo Stadium manager and part time PA announcer, Jerry Hall came up with a great idea to help bridge the language barrier, when he invited Kristen oan den Akker, into the booth and asked her to announce the Tiger names for him.

MSBL / MABL World Series manager Spotlight On:

Tony Feo (18+ Chicago Redhawks)

You can hear the sound of baseball being taught at the academy in Lake Zurich, Illinois: "proper stance and proper balance," "lead with the top hand," "let the ball travel to you, and keep your hands back." Along with his fiancé Kate Mitchum, Tony Feo enjoys analyzing a batter's swing, making key observations that could turn an average hitter into an exceptional one. Owning their own baseball academy has afforded them the opportunity to share the sport they both love and earn a living while doing it. They both play in the 18+ Midwest Suburban League, where their Redhawks team won the league championship in 2004. As a first year World Series manager in 2008, Tony tasted victory in the Central Division in Arizona as well. Every year since 2000, he has made the trip to the Valley of the Sun in addition to participating in Las Vegas and five times in the Chicago 4th of July Classic. An admirer of White Sox pitcher Mark Buehrle because of his relaxed and humble attitude, plus getting the most out of average pitching ability, Tony brings a refreshing attitude to baseball instruction. It's not always about who has the most God-given ability; devoted work ethic and applying lessons learned from quality instruction can make a significant difference in performance. Tony endured and welcomed an ice water bath from teammates following the final play of that 2008 championship game because of his teammates' strong fundamental play. They turned a fly ball to right field into a double play out at first base, showing the value of alert fundamentals and team baseball. That's the way it's supposed to be played.
