Reschedules Rule After Heavy Rains Washout Play On All Westside Fields

By Tom Prendergast

An overnight storm on the east side of the valley washed out morning games at Fitch and Hohokam, sending those teams looking for an alternative field. Early yesterday afternoon, additional rains fell and in its wake created a marathon day for some teams, especially in the 50+ WB Cactus divisions. For the third day in a row, severe weather rolled through the greater metropolitan area dumping a ton of rain water on the fields at Goodyear, Peoria, Maryvale and Surprise. Later in the afternoon Papago joined that list and only the Salt River fields and the Tempe Diablo Complex remained dry. Several of the suspended and rained out games were moved to the Tempe Diablo fields and games were scheduled one right after another. The final game of the night didn't get over with until after 2:00am in the morning. All in all it made for a really long day at the ball park.

50+ WB American Boston Wolfpack pitcher, Dennis "Oil Can" Boyd, faced off against his former MLB teammate in last night's game.

The "Rocket" Outduels "Oil Can" In A Classic MSBL WS Game

A Robust Crowd Of About 400 Cheer On The Participants at Tempe Diablo Stadium
By Tom Prendergast

This game lived up to the hype. For about a month, the MSBL / MABL website had been promoting this game as a "much see" event. And it certainly was a terrific game. Former major league pitchers, Roger Clemens and Dennis "Oil Can" Boyd were both sharp. Houston Old Stars third baseman, Woody Williams, threw out a Boston Wolfpack runner trying to score on a sharply hit ball to third in the top of the first, and that bang - bang play at the plate really set the tone for the rest of the game. Many of the spectators arrived early and brought posters, pictures and other memorabilia hoping to get an autograph from a former big leaguer. In fact the atmosphere inside the stadium was similar to a Spring Training game, where the players are accessible, ready and willing to sign autograph's. The final score was Houston 4 and the Boston Wolfpack 1. After the game both teams posed for a group photo.
