2020 MSBL WS Kicks Off In The Valley of the Sun!

50+ National Boston Wolfpacks batter, Dean Borrelli drives in two runs with this rbi double down the line against the 3n2 Rangers at Tempe Diablo Stadium yesterday morning.

Like Last Year Our 50+ and 70+ Divisions Begin Play Today "Some Like It Hot" As The MSBL WS Begins With 100 Degree Temps!

By Tom Prendergast

Without a doubt, just the fact that we are getting to play games this year in Arizona, almost make anything else irrelevant, to a point. As the City of Phoenix continues to shatter the all time record for days with 100+ degree temperatures, our players are taking the field under most unusual circumstances. Many regular teams who compete in the MSBL WS every year have found themselves combining with other teams in the same boat, just so they could get 14 guys on a roster.

The MSBL National Office, realized this early on and decided to ease the age restrictions in order for some teams to come up with enough players to be competitive. Just three months ago, the prospects for the 33rd annual MSBL World Series didn't look very good. But as the season went on, the MSBL cities that were playing games (Chicago, Detroit and Kansas City) managed to pull off these seasons without any major Covid-19 issues. These managers and players bought into the safety protocols that allowed games to be played, under some not so normal conditions. None the less the season went on and players started to get excited about attending the MSBL WS in Arizona, like they always do.

This year, every teams roster will be posted on the MSBL website. Once the roster has been turned into Steve Sigler at the team registration, it will be scanned and placed under 2020 MSBL WS rosters. In addition, before every game both team managers will be exchanging rosters (which should include - first and last names, jersey number, age and an asterisk next to the name of any player who was granted a waiver to play in the tournament. Also this year every manager is required to keep a copy of his players photo ID's on hand at every game. If an opposing team manager requests to see a photo ID of any player and is denied, then the team that refused the request could end up forfeiting the game. Bottom line, the tournament is looking to establish more transparency when it comes to all teams rosters and players, most notably any questionable personnel or rumors that players are flying in for the playoffs!

2020 MSBL/MABL World Series Official Scorebook

As usual, every team participating in this years tournament receives an official scorebook.

The MSBL WS score reporting text number is listed inside the front cover along with an emergency phone number to call if you need to speak with a tournament official.

Also included are the basic MSBL WS tournament playing rules, and the minimum number of batters a team must use, based on the division.

And there's also a 3 page (carbon copy) lineup card for the manager to fill out and submit to the other team.
