50+ Playoffs Begin Today As 35+ Pool Play Wraps Up

35+ Cactus Division Minneapolis North Stars batter, Matt Carter pulls this ball down the line during his teams game against the Tucson White yesterday at Tempe Diablo Stadium.

Courtesy Runner - A/B Batting and Shared Batting Position's Update MSBL Rules Designed to Help Team Managers Get More Players Into The Game By Tom Prendergast

The courtesy runner rule has been a staple of the MSBL since it began and it's pretty simple. "Players that will need courtesy runners must have their manager notify the opposing manager and home plate umpire at the plate meeting." If this doesn't happen, the opposing manager has the right to refuse the courtesy runner. Each team will be allowed a maximum of two players per game who can be classified as needing a courtesy runner. The player who made the last batted out, becomes the courtesy runner.

In the event of an A/B batting position batter needing a courtesy runner, the other batting position would be the courtesy runner. For example: if the position B batter needs a courtesy runner, the A batter will be the courtesy runner for B instead of the last batted out. While teams may use an unlimited number of A/B batters in the lineup, only two courtesy runners may be used per team, per game.

The purpose of the Shared Batting Position is to enable more players to participate as the manager uses two players to share one batting position in the offensive lineup and during the game the manager decides who bats each time the position comes up. The manager can use the position at the start of the game or can add to the lineup at anytime during the game. When a player is used as a base runner in the Shared Position, he must bat the next time his position in the order comes to the plate. After that point, either of the Shared Runners may bat in that position. There is no limit to the number of shared lineup positions.

Note - in the event the wrong runner or batter is identified, the game should be stopped and the correct player should take his place. These infractions are not a protest able offense.
