Spread Rule In Effect - It's 15 After 7 Innings During Pool Play Games

35+ / 50+ Cactus Divisions Managers Voted To Bat A Minimum of 14 In Playoffs

By Tom Prendergast

While several new rule changes have been added for this year's tournament, the 15 run mercy rule was actually put in place last year and is in effect during pool play games only. Playoff games have no time limits. As far as age exemptions go, if your team has a roster of 18 or more players for any given game, you can only have two (2) age exempted players in the line up, either offensively or defensively, at any one time. But if your team has a roster of 17 or less, then you can have 3 age exempted players in the line up.

Central and Cactus divisions require teams to get a plate appearance for 14 batters in a nine inning game. In years past during the playoffs, we have relaxed these requirements and used the straight up MSBL rule of batting a minimum of 10 batters. Earlier this year the Cactus division managers voted to continue that requirement during all playoffs and championship games. Diamond Dream Mustang's skipper, Mike Lacombe, told me that, "the managers all agreed that in keeping with the spirit of the division, they should continue to bat a minimum of 14 batters". So the National MSBL agreed and granted the managers request.

However, teams in the Central divisions will only be required to bat a minimum of 14 during pool play games and then bat 10 in the playoffs. Also team managers must present the other manager with his roster, and it must include first and last names and jersey numbers.
