MSBL National Announces 2021 Tournament Dates - And They Are A Go!

By Tom Prendergast

So far the 2020 MSBL World Series has exceeded expectations. Three months ago it was questionable whether or not the tournament would even be held. After two weeks I'm happy to report that the participants are having a great time and the games are all getting played. The safety protocols that the MSBL published are working well and for the most part both players and spectators are wearing masks and maintaining social distancing whenever they can while they are attending or playing in a game. As we get ready to start week 3, the great weather continues and the 45+ and 60+ teams are looking forward to a very competitive week ahead of them. Which is just amazing, given the state of our world at this moment.

We are hoping that next year returns to normal and everybody can resume life as we use to know it. So we are planning on hosting National tournaments again starting in January with the Desert Classic (in Palm Springs) and the Holiday Classic (in Florida). Next up the Kickoff Classic tournaments in Las Vegas (back to back weekends in March) followed in May (over the Memorial Day weekend) by the Las Vegas Open. Our 34th MSBL World Series will be held October 17th - November 6th. We are anticipating next years tournament will be back to normal and the team count will be close to 400. Needless to say until we get the all clear from the government and a vaccine for the virus, all of our events are subject to change. But if the fields are available and open for business, the MSBL will be ready to go as usual.
