Week 1 Wraps Up Today With 40+ / 70+ Championships!

The 50+ Cactus Diamond Dream Mustangs captured the championship trophy by out slugging the Sonoma County Cardinals, 18-14 yesterday afternoon at Tempe Diablo stadium.

55+ / 65+ Divisions Start Today As 25+ Teams Begin Their Playoffs

Photo ID's Are Required For All Players Participating in the MSBL / MABL WS
By Tom Prendergast

Well as our week 1 teams wrap up play, both the weather and the action on the field could not have been better. Win or lose, the players on hand this week had a blast! For the most part I think the guys that have been coming to this tournament for years have a fairly good idea when something isn't quite right. For example, a Johnny Bench type catcher, who seems too good to be true. Inevitably other players start asking questions about who is this guy and where did he come from. The next thing you know a manager requests to see his photo ID, which is perfectly legit and required for all participants.

A huge red flag goes up when the player responds with; "well I left it in the hotel because I'm not driving." You might be able to fool some of the people some of the time, but not any of our managers. So what happens next? Well that's pretty simple. The manager of the player without a photo ID, will take a picture of this player and text it to the WS director. After the game is over that player will go back to the hotel, retrieve his ID and take it to the MSBL WS office, located at Tempe Diablo Stadium. If the cell phone photo and the photo ID match, no problem. However, if the player without the ID refuses to have his photo taken, well then its game over. There's absolutely no valid reason for this verification process not to take place. And by the way, ever since Al Gore invented the internet, it's pretty easy to track down former major and minor league players. You don't need Lt Columbo to figure out this one.
