MSBL Playing Rules Have Evolved Over The Last 35 Years

Starting With The Courtesy Runner to the A/B to The Shared Batting Position

By Tom Prendergast

Free defensive substitution, no limit on the number of batters in the offensive lineup and two batters could use a courtesy runner. If the pitcher hit four batters, he had to leave the game. These were the rules we started with in 1988. Very basic and straight forward. Most of the MSBL special rules were aimed at allowing more players an opportunity to participate in the game while maintaining a competitive balance for the manager. We added participation rules for our Central division, which required every team to bat at least 15 players.

Our A/B batter option expanded the opportunity for managers to get more players into the lineup, as did the Shared Batting position option. In addition to that we came up with a series of guidelines for our 70+ / 73+ and 75+ teams. Now just to be clear, these "special" MSBL rules are in place to help teams, not penalize them. When a team uses the wrong courtesy runner (mistakenly or accidentally on purpose), there is no penalty. If a team catches this and brings it to the umps attention, then play stops and we get the right guy running the bases. The penalty for the wrong batter, is an out - batting out of turn. None of these are protestable offenses that will result in a game being overturned. We've also tweaked our ex-professional rules and have specific criteria for each division. For example, when it comes to the professional foreign leagues, we recognize, Japan, Mexico, Puerto Rico and Venezuela. Sorry to say but the Netherlands, Australia and Zamunda aren't on the list.

MSBL WS Website Goes Off Line As Rain Returns - At the Same Time!

By Tom Prendergast

What's the worst thing that can happen at the MSBL World Series! Several things come to mind. How about umpires not showing up? Yes that's a problem for sure. Sprinklers coming on and light's not working. Or how about only one team showing up for a game. Several things come to mind, but for me, rain is at the top of my list. But a close second would be the website not working. On Thursday morning, the Game On website maintenance staff had to perform an "Amazon server migration". And some kind of "porting of the DNS" server. Which was supposed to take around 4-6 hours. Instead it lasted 24! Well that and the rain really created havoc for the WS staff and for the players and managers, who were on pins and needles waiting to see the scores from other games. So we did things the old fashioned way - by hand. Kind of like we had to do back when we started!
