35 Years of MSBL/MABL World Series Logos (From 1988 - 2022)

Collectible Patches and Pins Were A Must Have Items For MSBL WS Players

By Tom Prendergast

The evolution of the MSBL / MABL World Series logo's is 35 years in the making. The first year, we used our original logo (and the tournament was sponsored by Smith-Barney). After that the national office worked with an advertng company to produce a logo, specifically for the tournament. This logo went on everything associated with the tournament. Early on we had a schedule/map booklet (that included every teams schedule and directions to each field). In addition to that we had a program, with photos from every team, last years winners, and articles regarding the MSBL WS. Plus we had a patch and a commemorative pin for each year. These were very popular and sold out year after year. And of course we had MSBL/MABL WS clothing. T-shirts, sweatshirts, hats, wrist bands, jackets, sweaters, polos and even individual water canisters (photo insert at right). The marketing department at MVP Athletics down through the years has certainly done a fantastic job. Mike Lee designed many of the WS logo's and this year, Vic Puglisi created this one. Our logo wear is high quality, durable and very good looking and fashionable. It's comfortable and always in style. As merchandising goes, MSBL leads the league in all categories when it comes to our logo's. We've been doing this for 35 years and doing it very well!
